Community Service Project

The Leadership Tigard program places a strong emphasis on volunteerism. The goal is to inspire rising leaders to participate in the life of the community.

To that end the class chooses a hands on community service projects to participate in during the year. Together participants plan, strategize and execute their project on behalf of a community cause. In the process, class members learn how to utilize the skills and resources available to them to reach a common community goal.

Educate and inspire rising leaders to participate in the life of our community

Leadership Tigard is an annual nine-month program investing in leadership and community awareness and is a program of the Tigard Chamber.

During nine full-day sessions, scheduled once a month, participants work together with other local leaders to expand awareness and understanding of unique issues and opportunities facing the Tigard community as well as Washington County.

Participants are challenged to explore current issues first-hand, will benefit from community & business tours, a series of leadership topics designed to enhance individual leadership skills and then will apply those skills in a community service project.

Leadership Tigard educates rising leaders on the issues impacting business and their community. At the completion of the program, graduates should be able to see themselves plugging into responsible community roles such as citizen committees, boards, city councils and more.

For Employers—Why Invest?

Why invest in Leadership Tigard? No matter how much technology you have, people are your company's greatest asset.

Leadership Tigard keeps leaders plugged in to become part of the solution to issues and needs. When you invest in leadership development, you build your major resource, your people. It is our belief that everything begins with leadership.

As the 3rd largest city in Washington, County (the economic engine of Oregon), and a suburb of Portland trisected by 3 major thoroughfares (I-5, 99W, 217) Tigard's issues become increasingly more complex and the need for leadership is greater than ever. After all, who will "pass the torch" and continue to build upon what was already created by our pillars before us?

Leadership Tigard educates rising leaders on the issues and resources in the community, allowing one to become part of solutions as a more informed and engaged citizen. When you invest in Leadership Tigard you invest in the community and our future. After the nine-month program is complete, Leadership Tigard alumni become community trustees. Why not make a difference in your community today and invest through Leadership Tigard?

When participants return to the workplace they:

- Bring a broader perspective to teaming and problem solving
- Bring all their knowledge, learning and connections back into your business
- Think more strategically
- Can help you determine how your business can engage with the community
